SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION

A guidebook to scholarships and financial aid within NBHWC
Approved Training Programs

www.nbhwc.org
Updated 2026

NBHC Approved Programs must meet a minimum standard in the areas of content taught, contact hours with students, faculty requirements, and development and assessment of practical skills of students.

Individuals wishing to become National Board Certified Health & Wellness Coaches (NBC-HWC) must complete an NBHC Approved Training Program.

Look for the NBHC Seal of Approval when finding a training program that is right for you.

APPROVED
TRAINING PROGRAM

Programs included in this guide meet or exceed the NBHC published standards for health and wellness coach training and education.

Graduates from these programs qualify to apply for the National Board Certification Examination and have the opportunity to earn the designation, National Board Certified Health & Wellness Coach (NBC-HWC).

For a complete list of programs that are approved by NBHC, please visit:
<https://nbhwc.org/find-an-approved-training-program>

The National Board for Health & Wellness Coaching envisions a world where all people thrive.

Scholarship offerings promote equity of access to training opportunities for health coaches from all backgrounds, and are a step towards reducing health inequities and improving healthcare outcomes for all.

Please note that, while each of these programs meet the published NBHWC standards, they are distinct in many ways. Interested individuals should do their due diligence prior to enrolling in a training program.

For a complete list of programs that are approved by NBHWC, please visit:

Health Coach Certificate

Provided by: Bucks County Community College

The Bucks County Community College Foundation offers scholarships to students pursuing their education at Bucks. For financial needs-based scholarships, students are responsible to file the appropriate FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) prior to completing a scholarship application. Each scholarship has its own set of requirements. Full details can be found on the Bucks' website and Scholarship Universe. Bucks County Community College provides a diverse community of learners with exemplary, accessible educational opportunities and the personal connections that foster success. One of the most difficult aspects of attending college can be figuring out how to pay tuition. The good news is that there are many options for receiving financial aid. These include grants, scholarships, loans, and work-study opportunities.

Program supports attainment of 50 coaching sessions.

M.A. degree of Integrative Health Studies or Certificate in Integrative Health and Wellness Coaching

Provided by: California Institute of Integral Studies

California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS) offers a variety of scholarships to support prospective students:

Both merit- and need-based scholarships are available through CIIS and are open to IHL students. As a regionally accredited graduate degree program, students are eligible for federal financial aid (including federal loans).

1. CIIS Opportunity Scholarship

Available to all newly admitted full-time students.

Awards typically range from $500 to $3,000.

2. Inaugural Scholarship

Awarded to newly admitted full-time students in new degree programs.

Recipients may receive $2,500 per semester for the length of the program if they remain in good academic standing.

3. Named Scholarships (e.g., Michael Gityjoon Hebel Scholarships)

Available to incoming and continuing students.

4. Program-specific or Discipline Scholarships

Awards (e.g. $5,000) available to qualified students within select programs.

5. Diversity Scholarships

CIIS offers diversity awards for students from historically underrepresented backgrounds who demonstrate financial need and commitment to diversity and inclusion.

6. Other Aid Options

CIIS also provides fellowships and assistantships (teaching or research) in some areas.

Federal financial aid (grants and loans) is available for eligible students.

Requirements:

Opportunity Scholarship:

- Be fully admitted to a degree program.
- Enroll full-time.
- Submit the FAFSA promptly (international students should complete the International Student Scholarship Application).

Diversity Scholarship:

- Submit a Diversity Scholarship Application.
- Complete the standard admissions application for their chosen program.
- Provide a personal statement detailing their commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Fellowships and Assistantships:

- Submission of additional application materials.
- Demonstration of relevant experience or skills.
- Students complete a substantial portion of the required coaching hours within the curriculum:

Support for 50 coaching sessions: 30 coaching hours are accrued in the first year through two 3-credit coaching courses, which include structured coaching practice and supervision. In the second year, students may apply to serve as a coach through the CIIS Wellness Center, where they can accrue additional hours under supervision.

Commitment to specific work hours or project involvement.

Community As Medicine Training Program

Provided by: Open Source Wellness ●

Open Source Wellness is a 501c3 non-profit organization that is dedicated to providing direct services and increasing access to health coaching in medically underserved communities. We are committed to creating a world in which everyone experiences abundant health, wellbeing, and human connection, especially those who have been historically excluded and marginalized. The tuition you pay for this program goes directly to helping to expand OSW's mission, vision, and reach to help others. We have limited financial scholarship available and try to offer it equitably to as many applicants as we can in order to make our training program more accessible.

As you think about what you can afford to pay for this program we invite you to consider what other potential sources of funding might be available to you (ex: crowdfunding, employer professional development funds, scholarships, friends & family support).

How much could you pay for this training program? The full tuition is $5,199. (We can offer payment plans for 5 months or 6 months, and potentially longer especially with early enrollment)

Equity-Based Sliding Scale Tuition Options and Need- Based Scholarships

We are committed to making our programs accessible to a diverse range of participants, regardless of financial circumstances. To support this, we offer a sliding scale payment system that allows individuals to choose the option that best fits their financial situation, while also fostering community care.

If you are being sponsored by an organization or anticipate reimbursement from your workplace, please reach out to us directly. We're happy to discuss how we can best support you in arranging your tuition through these channels.

Payment Plan Options: In addition to our sliding scale options, we also offer flexible payment plans at no additional cost to help make participation more manageable. After you complete an application, interview, and receive acceptance you can enroll and immediately start your monthly payment plan. Apply early to be able to start your payment plans and spread them out for a longer time at no additional cost! Check the website for possible early bird pricing!

$5,199 - Standard Tuition

$4,699 - Flexible Tuition

This option offers a reduced rate for those who need some financial flexibility. It allows you to participate at a lower cost while still contributing to the program.

$4,199 - Supported Tuition

This option is available for those who need more financial assistance in order to participate in the training.

$3,699 - Community Tuition

This option is available for those who need more financial assistance in order to participate in the training.

Additional Need Based Scholarship Beyond Community Tuition - for those who need more financial assistance beyond our Community Tuition in order to participate in the training. Amount of scholarship ranges based on need and availability of funds per cohort.

Students are asked to fill out an application, and then complete an interview. The Need- Based Scholarship application questions are part of the general application for the program.

After completing OSW's Community As Medicine Health Coach Training Program, there is the opportunity for graduates to apply for a limited number of spots to participate in Open Source Wellness Practicum. Those that complete the practicum receive a partial scholarship for their exam fees.

The practicum includes: Hands-on experience working with OSW participants using the OSW Community As Medicine model, mentorship, exam prep, and a scholarship to help with exam related fees.

Opportunity to complete Practical Skills Assessments in Spanish, Closed Captioning available.

B.S. in Health and Wellness Coaching

Provided by: Southern Connecticut State University,
Dept. of Public Health ●

As an undergraduate degree program, all students in the major have access to university financial aid and scholarships. The university has a foundation that provides hundreds of scholarships to students each semester; many are focused on student related characteristics (degree programs, areas of residence, demographics). There are over 350 scholarships available for students to review and apply.

Requirements to qualify: Because these are university based scholarships, students need to be matriculated into a degree program at the university. Then they would search the database and find those that are eligible and fill out the application form. Students can apply to multiple scholarships through one application on the university website.

Wave Coach Training Program

Provided by: Wave

We do offer financial assistance to 20% of our training community in the form of full pro bono seats ($4000 value), and half pro bono seats ($2000 value).

The first step is to complete the application to the program from our website. At the end, there is a box that says, 'Anything else to add?' and that is where the applicant can indicate their interest in financial assistance. Once we know that financial assistance is needed, we will ask the applicant to indicate which form of financial assistance (full or half pro bono seat) would enable their ability to attend the program, as well as to share how taking the program will benefit them and their community.

We collect requests for financial assistance up to 3 weeks before the start of the cohort. When the financial assistance deadline is met, we then review all requests and make out determinations about how to allocate our 20% budget.

We then write to all who submitted requests to share our determination, and confirm with the awardees that they are able to commit to the next cohort of our program.

Program supports attainment of 50 coaching sessions. Free 7-week exam prep included.

A Wellness Revolution

Email: info@awellnessrevolution.com - Cathleen Beerkens

The National Board for Health & Wellness Coaching (NBHWC) is overseen by a board of directors, and supported by committees composed of volunteers and staff members who seek to advance the profession of health & wellness coaching.

Shortly after forming in 2012, the organization established a Job Task Analysis (JTA) for the industry, which was validated by more than 1,000 practicing health & wellness coaches. It has since been expanded to the HWC Content Outline, which now serves as the framework for the National Board Certification Examination, and the training and education standards that programs adhere to when applying for NBHWC approval.

In 2016, the organization began working with the National Board of Medical Examiners (nbme.org) to establish a board certification examination, which has since certified more than 12,000 health & wellness coaches who work in the fields of healthcare, employee wellness, government, and private practice. The National Board Certified Health & Wellness Coaching community is composed of trained, educated coaches, who are passionate about working with patients and clients for better health outcomes.

NBHWC Mission

To champion the advancement of health and wellness coaching through evidence-informed standards of education, training, credentialing and research.

NBHWC Vision

The NBHWC envisions a world where all people have the opportunity to thrive, including with the support of qualified health and wellness coaches.
